

January 2015

Happy New Year!

USDC would like to invite all of our associates to buckle up and get ready for a great ride in 2015. The board has already met and has some great ideas in store for the 2015 year. We are ready to implement some great strategies while staying true to the networking success of USDC 2014.

Overall bring a team environment to the council, where we all work together to make each month a success. As I see it, we need to be working together as major members and associates to simply increase the business base with the major members and the associates to benefit each of our respected companies in a positive way.

It will take the dedication of the USDC board members to coordinate meetings to enhance the “return on investment” for the associates. And, it will take the consistent attendance for the associates to meet and network with the companies to begin building a relationship that will benefit the bottom line.

I would like to stress to each of the associates, to communicate to any of the board members, the companies you would like to have host a meeting in the future. Between all of our respected companies we can try to make that happen. We already have the first three months of the 2015 year locked up with some great meetings.

January, will be hosted by IHC in such a unique way that you won't want to miss meeting the individuals that Daniela has lined up. They are the decision makers that you have been wanting to meet.

February, we will be hosted by Autoliv and their respected buyers at the Ogden Airport. In the past, meetings north of Salt Lake have been hard for some of the members to attend, but I encourage you to make your reservations early. Since we are meeting at their location with all of their buyers, they are only allowing 30 people to attend. We will take first reservations for associates.

March is our annual meeting – details coming soon!

Thanks in advance for your support and together this will be a great 2015!
